Oscar is a tech-enabled health insurance company that uses design and data to make a healthier life accessible for all. I lead design for Oscar's virtual care offering. In addition to coaching the designers on my team, I conduct research, plan experiments, collaborate with teammates and senior leadership, and design high-impact solutions.

Designer

June 2016–February 2018 · New York, NY

Moment is a NYC-based design consultancy. I designed digital products and services for Fortune 500 clients in healthcare, finance, and media, led client and internal sessions to hone value propositions, UX, and visual systems, presented to C-suite leaders, and mentored junior designers.
